The Taki Government College started its journey in the education map of West Bengal on September 15, 1950, and has gone a long way to reach its present stage of importance, fulfilling the educational needs of large section of students of vast adjoining areas. Over the years, College has been upholding its pledge towards inclusive education and thus positioned itself as the seat of learning. Demographically, the college attracts a large number of first-generation learners mostly from remote rural and marginalized areas. The role of the institution is not limited to the responsibility to impart quality education and to groom academically oriented students. It also provides holistic education through character formation, consideration for fellow beings and nature, social enlightenment and to groom students to be citizens with a sense of social responsibility. The institute creates an inclusive, supportive environment that addresses their unique challenges and fosters comprehensive growth. Following are the key strategies and initiatives that the institution has implemented to achieve the goal-

A. Academic support and experiential learning-

The Institution ensures equity and broad access in admitting students from different socio-economic, cultural, and educational backgrounds. Our college provides value-based education at an affordable cost, specifically to rural and underprivileged students. There has been a significant increase in the number of OBC, minorities, and girl students over the past few years.

The college implements the prescribed curriculum to meet the global challenges through choice-based education system in which students have freedom to select courses of their choice. Apart from conventional lecture method, participatory learning, group discussion and individual interaction during tutorial and practical classes are conducted to justify the needs of the bright learners and underachievers. Special measures are sincerely taken to improve the performance of the slow learners.

Over the past few years, college has taken initiatives to enrich the curriculum by organizing seminars, workshops in different cross cutting issues including gender awareness, human rights, professional ethics, intellectual property rights, environment and sustainability. In addition, many departments organize add-on courses, field projects and projects on societal problems.

C. Community Engagement and Social Responsibility

The institute fosters students to develop a sense of empathy and social awareness through initiatives that connect students with the community. To enable students to participate independently in the decision-making process, a series of lectures, conferences and workshops are conducted to make them aware of their power, rights and duties. Most of the courses offer papers that contain gender components and through the pedagogy of gender sensitization it extends beyond the classroom to ensure gender equality. Different community outreach programmes such as awareness on eye donation, child marriage and child trafficking, election awareness, cybercrime awareness have been organized through the NSS Unit of College and Different cultural programmes and sports events are organized to promote a sense of belonging, community integration and to recognize and celebrate diversity through cultural festivals and events. Inclusiveness (cultural/gender/economic/social) is practised as part of all the college initiatives. Different events of National importance and diverse religious festivals are celebrated to inculcate tolerance of all faiths in extracurricular activities to foster teamwork, leadership, and creative thinking.

Participation of students in sports and cultural activities

The whole administrative structure starting from the Officer-in-Charge, all the faculties and office staff work together to fulfil the comprehensive goal of growing young minds to well-balanced, responsible and mature citizens of our nation – all join hands with great sincerity to achieve their respective goals. A spirit of belongingness and warmth is fostered among the students, faculty and office staff; which is retained even after the students leave the institute. Many of our students are academically accomplished and are employed in reputed government as well as private organizations which is reflected in the list of noted alumni.
